

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A vehicle information specification determining function is built in the on-board terminal installed on a vehicle to determine the specification for 5 vehicle information collection. An information center determines service charges according to the vehicle information specification determined by the vehicle information specification determining function.